

- for purposes relating to organ or tissue donation. This may include next of kin contact details.
- for operational and management activities, including funding, planning, safety and quality improvement.
- to investigate a complaint or incident.
- to manage a legal action or claim brought by the patient against the health service.

The law also allows or requires your health information

